yoga.

Enjoy a sixty minute flow with your friends and family.

Yoga allows us to play in our bodies. It is a delicious tool which assists us in exploring our mind, body and breath. We return to ourselves - a beautiful thing to do when we live in such a frantic, busy and distracting world. Yoga emphasises how all of our bodies, and minds, are different and unique. In yoga we do not compare ourselves to others. We embrace and love our incredible bodies, and enjoy them.

our lodges.

Nestled in the heart of the Keurbooms Riverlies Stanley Island, a nature reserve. Located just outside Plettenberg Bay, the soul of the Garden Route.

Stay in one of our self-catering lodges. Dock your boat, land your plane, or take our ferry across to explore the natural beauty Plett has to offer with the river at your doorstep. Spend the morning canoeing down the pristine river, enjoy sundowners on a boat cruise, and a slow Sunday fishing day - we offer a memorable experience for all.

Shorea, or Meranti, is a wood that features extensively in our Shorea Lodge. An ode to David, the man who breathed life into our dreams, it is a homage to the craftsmanship and work that created and built this lodge.

Like David, Shorea provides structure and remains strong and unique when exposed to changing environments. Shorea cannot be warped, it cannot be twisted - and like our Dave, is versatile and partial to some woodworking.

To the woman who made our dreams possible.

Acacia, the iconic South African thorn bush, is a tribute to our family farm in the Karoo.

To the woman who supported our dreams no matter what.

Elegia, or otherwise known as Cape Thatch Reeds, is iconic to Stanley Island and although there is only one thatched house left, this represents the beginning of the journey
